LITERATURE ONLINE

THE NEW RESEARCH STANDARD

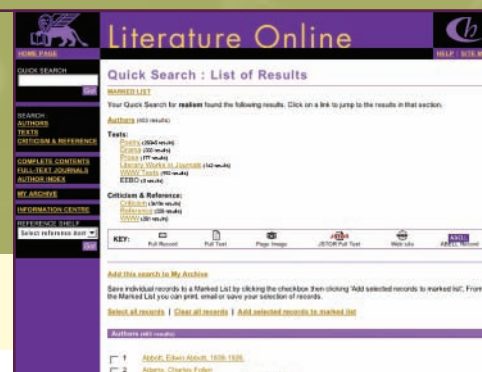

From Anglo-Saxon bards to hip-hop poets, our new edition of Literature Online takes the core elements of the renowned Literature Online database and adds more content, tools, and power. It combines cutting-edge criticism and core reference materials with current and classic poetry, prose, and drama and a clean, easy-to-use interface.

“LITERATURE ONLINE IS A PERFECT EXAMPLE OF LITERARY INNOVATION”

—DR. RICHARD HARP, UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

Literature Online offers more than 350,000 literary works, as well as an extensive library of criticism, reference works, and journals.

Quick Search allows users to search across the entire contents of Literature Online from any page.

Literature Online offers extensive coverage of contemporary, multicultural authors including biographies, primary works, and criticism.

LITERATURE ONLINE—THEN...

Literature Online's launch in 1996 broke new ground in electronic publishing and set the standard for the delivery of scholarly materials over the Internet. It's now available in hundreds of libraries and academic institutions around the world.

...AND NOW

Today, Literature Online features even more authors and literary texts—with extensive coverage of 20th-century works by multicultural authors. It also offers more comprehensive indexing of websites as well as a huge library of criticism and reference material, including:

- Over 190 full-text literary journals (fully searchable and accessible through their tables of contents) with over 110,000 critical articles
- Over 6,500 essays of literary criticism from complete, full-text literary reference books and textbooks covering critical

terms, literary movements, world fiction, and poetry

- More than 22,000 of the latest poems, short stories, and essays by top contemporary authors identified and searchable from our full-text journal collection. Most of these works are not available in any anthology
- Information on over 10,000 contemporary authors
- Over 3,800 commissioned biographies of contemporary and canonical authors worldwide
- A wealth of bibliographic information to support study and research in literature

- Nearly 900 Poets on Screen video clips showing key modern poets reading contemporary and classic poems
- Eight complete cross-searchable reference titles from respected academic publishers:
 - The Concise Oxford Dictionary of Literary Terms* (Oxford University Press, 1990)
 - The New Princeton Encyclopedia of Poetry and Poetics* (Princeton University Press, 1993)
 - Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English* (Routledge, 1994)

- The Columbia Companion to the Twentieth-Century American Short Story* (Columbia University Press, 2000)
- The Columbia Dictionary of Modern Literary and Cultural Criticism* (Columbia University Press, 1995)
- The Columbia Dictionary of Modern European Literature* (Columbia University Press, 1980)
- Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Nineteenth Century* (Fitzroy Dearborn Publishers, 1998)
- Encyclopedia of the Novel* (Fitzroy Dearborn Publishers, 1998)

- The Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature (ABELL) from 1920 onwards, comprising information on more than 880,000 journal articles, monographs, book reviews, and doctoral dissertations
- New! MLA International Bibliography premium add-on module, offering references to books and articles from around the world on modern languages and literatures, linguistics, folklore, and other related topics. It covers more than 4,400 academic journals, and indexes more than 65,000 books and articles annually for a total of more than 2 million records

- Detailed indexing and full searching of over 4,000 authoritative websites for literature
- The complete Webster's Third New International Dictionary, Unabridged, The Concise Oxford Dictionary, and The Shakespeare Glossary—cross-searchable from a combined search box

And with new material added in each monthly release, Literature Online is unrivaled for coverage, quality, and currency. ■ In addition, an intuitive new interface, sophisticated search options, enhanced research capabilities, and helpful tools make it easier than ever for researchers to search this unique resource and pinpoint the information they want.

Complete contents of the database are fully browseable, including all collections of literary works and full-text journals.

Researchers can easily search, study, analyze, and compare the texts in Literature Online.

Users can save searches and results for later use with the My Archive feature. They can re-access these records later, add notes, or email records or citations to others.

With Literature Online, you can find new connections that cross the centuries and span the globe. You retrieve key literary texts in seconds, saving valuable research and study time, while you uncover patterns and trends in moments that otherwise might have taken years of research to uncover. You can select a text that inspires you, compare its language to similar works, learn about its author, or find out how it influenced other writers and read what they've said about it. You can conduct textual analyses that trace the use of words and themes across literary genres, movements, and time periods. Literature Online puts you at the center of a textual universe, wherever you are, with:

- Direct access to over 350,000 texts spanning 1,400 years, including 339,000 works of poetry, more than 5,000 plays, and 2,250 key novels and short stories
- More than 170,000 literary texts published since 1900, including over 35,000 works by women and nearly 11,000 by African-American writers. Most of these texts are copyright works which are not available electronically from any other source
- The highest standards for accuracy of texts through double-keying of complete, authoritative editions for 99.97% accuracy and careful reflection of the original layout on each page
- Precision journal searching and browsing that allow easy access to more than 22,000 current works in today's issues of literary journals—before they're available in anthologies
- Links to 5,200 Web resources. The links are selected for their quality and range of useful literary materials
- KnowledgeNotes™, text-based student guides, provide critical study and in-depth introductions to key novels, poems, and plays that support literature teaching programs
- All of the critical and reference resources that are needed to put the works in Literature Online into proper context

Literature Online will continually grow as new texts are converted to electronic form, new reference resources are created, and additional websites are identified within the service.

A NEW INTERFACE—SIMPLIFIED. STRONGER. SMARTER.

Our cleaner, more intuitive interface has a number of new features and capabilities to help both novice and expert users search the vast wealth of literary works in Literature Online. Though the look and feel of the interface remains the same, now it's more powerful and easier to use than ever—giving users quick access to a wide range of information in a single search including more than 350,000 primary texts, over 190 full-text journals, 5,200 key websites, multimedia, criticism, biographies, and ABELL.
